

BLAZE OF GLORY FOR LAST NIGHT OF BIG CARNIVAL

Marston Campbell Application for Access to Wharves and Piers Wins Approval

Application for access to the wharves, piers and bulkheads lining the harbor waterfront was made to the Board of Harbor Commissioners today by Marston Campbell, in behalf of the Carnival directors, who elected him last week their chairman of pyrotechnics.

The board decided today to refer the letter to the harbormaster with the request that he grant the request with as much available space as is allowed by the port commerce at Carnival time. Some feeling that the pilot's tower is not any too strong, led to a vote to defer action on this part of the request until an investigation of the tower has been made.

Mr. Campbell, the application specified, guaranteed that no general admission would be charged, though it was desired to place grandstands for those who wished to buy reserved seats for the water pageant and fireworks display which will wind up the Carnival on the night of Saturday, February 26. And it was further promised that there should be no smoking and that adequate police and fire protection to enforce this and other regulations should be provided.

Will Mendenhall, searchlight. Down at the bottom of the application was a line requesting permission to mount a searchlight on the pilot tower. That line is the cue for the appearance of something Honolulu never has seen. Mr. Campbell explained it today.

"There will be two nights of fireworks," he said. "The first, assigned on the tentative program to Wednesday night, February 23, probably will be given at Moiliili field, or within some other enclosure, and will be a day performance. The second will be the final blaze of glory, Saturday night, given in conjunction with the water pageant."

"The waterfront display will be entirely different. I plan that it should be largely aerial. The air will be kept filled with rockets, bombs, stars and scintillations. Beams of colored radiance from powerful searchlights will play on the smoke produced by the combustibles and the explosives. They will show the American flag, the Hawaiian flag and others unrolled in curling folds of smoke."

"That's what I want the pilot tower for—that, and another surprise that I am keeping dark for the present."

JAPANESE SHIP FORCED TO PUT IN FOR BUNKERS

Delayed nearly 10 days by storms which compelled her to use up most of her coal, the Japanese steamer Seiho Maru came into port at 1 o'clock this afternoon, to take 600 tons of coal. She was not scheduled to call here, but detected her course for this port because she did not have enough left to carry her to Vladivostok.

The ship is 24 1/2 days out from Seattle, bound for the Russian port with a general cargo. The Seiho will be here until Friday, as she cannot load all the coal she needs before that time. Minor repairs to some of her machinery will also be made here, the storms she encountered having made them necessary. The steamer docked at Pier 10.

RECAPTURE ONE OF LEADERS OF SCHOOL MUTINY

One more of the boys who escaped from the Industrial School at Waialeale was taken into custody today, the lad being David Kapoho, 16 years old, who was found wandering about Honolulu.

Rumors that an extensive investigation will be made of conditions at the school were current today, but nothing definite developed.

After January 1 the school will be in charge of a committee which was named by the governor, and changes are looked for under their management.

AD CLUB MEMBERS GIVE THANKS FOR HOMES IN HAWAII

Ad Club and was thankful that he had an opportunity to meet with good fellows every week. John Effinger said that he was thankful for being in Hawaii and hoped that he would die here. As a final summing up he said that he hoped the latter would not take place for some time.

Prof. Vaughan MacCauley said that he was thankful for a son which had recently arrived in his home. Jay A. Urice stated that he was thankful that he was married and that his wife had come to Hawaii. Another speaker stated that he was thankful that he was going to be married, which completed the chain.

Supervisor Robert Horner was thankful because he had enjoyed good health. One of the star answers of the day occurred when Henry Williams stated that he was thankful that he was living and that he did not have to do any too much work. Thankful for Contact.

Several speakers were thankful because they did not have to employ a doctor and Dr. Carl Keller said he was thankful for the things that the others were not thankful for, which made the score even. "Sonny" Cunha said he was thankful that Honolulu had a big window contest and hoped that they held another one. Harry Strange stated that he was thankful for the right to live in a land of plenty and was thankful that the citizens of Hawaii did not have to go through the terrors and sorrows of the people of the European countries.

Raymond C. Brown stated that he was thankful to live in a country where a president used his power to preserve the peace throughout the nation. David Cary Peters stated that he was thankful that he was working and expressed his pleasure at being able to meet the good fellows in the Ad Club.

R. E. Lambert expressed the feeling that he was glad that he had decided to make Honolulu his permanent home. De vis Norton was thankful that his son was four days older than the son of Prof. MacCauley. J. M. Riggs said that he was thankful that many could observe Thanksgiving in peace and plenty, and suggested that the Ad Club appoint a committee to purchase Christmas dinners for the poor. President Farrington appointed eight members to work for a successful dinner for the needy of the city.

Of all the sentiments expressed nearly every one was that the member should be thankful that he belonged to the Ad Club, the place where the brains of the city meet every Wednesday. Running through the expressions was a vein of kindness and charity that was particularly noticeable. Some of the feature expressions are published in the entire.

"I am thankful for harmony, peace and plenty; for confidence in mankind and ability to serve others as well as myself," James D. Levenson.

"I'm mighty thankful to be here. And thankful for the Ad Club cheer. But most of all I thank my stars. I'm not behind Paul Jarrett's bars."

"So just to show how glad I am, I'll raise my hat to Uncle Sam; And thank him, too, for all he's done for 'Auld Lang Syne' and Scotland's son."

—James A. Dunbar's Thanksgiving hymn.

W. R. Farrington—I am thankful that I am a citizen of the United States of America. And as a citizen, I am thankful that we have a leader as President who, when told by many what he ought to do, has the good sense and judgment to know what to do.

Will Produce Play. The members of the Ad Club voted favorably on the proposition of staging a play during January. It was decided that the club secure Miss Maude Drake, a dramatic producer, to assist in the production. The day was set for January 8, and the play selected was the famous production "David Garrick."

The vigilance committee reported that magazine collectors had secured subscriptions from many Honolulu people and had never sent the magazine. Harry Strange in a remark urged the members to patronize the Honolulu merchants, and then there would be no case of loss.

Before the Honorable Raymond C. courts today a petition for adjudication of "Paradise," written by Salie Hume Douglas, and the members joined in the chorus. Mr. Brown, in the language of the stage, received four curtains. Arthur Larmer accompanied the vocalist on the piano.

President W. R. Farrington suggested that the Boy Scouts march from Fort street to Kalakaua avenue on King and count the number of holes. Will Aid Carnival.

The members of the Ad Club at the luncheon today voted favorably upon the plan of having the Ad Club take charge of the first day of the Carnival. In a letter to President Farrington the Carnival committee asked that the Ad Club take charge of the first day's features which will include the presentation of prizes and the street dancing and the dancing in the armory on that evening. A committee will be appointed to outline the plan of campaign for the Ad Club day of the Carnival.

Why We Are Thankful

That was the topic at the Ad Club luncheon today and many were the expressions of "why," given by businessmen of Honolulu. My boss has several reasons for giving thanks and chief among them is that his business during the past year has been very prosperous. This new store is just one week and a year old today and business has been splendid. He says that he is thankful for PEACE ADDED TO PROSPERITY, and that the prospects for a larger business are so bright he wishes me to say that in turn he thanks his many appreciative customers who have made this business what it is, and within four years.

Wishing you, one and all, a happy, joyous Thanksgiving, we are yours for better clothing.
